The websites of the transport association Berlin Brandenburg or the German Railway may also be of help.

Arrival by car

Coming from motorway A100 from the west (e.g., from junction Funkturm, connection to A115 heading south-west or to A111 heading north) take exit Zehlendorf. Coming from motorway A100 but arriving from the east (e.g., from junction Grenzallee connecting to A113 heading south-east) take exit Kreuz Schöneberg.

Both exits take you onto federal highway B1. Stay on that route until you reach the street Sachsendamm. Turn left onto street Dominicusstraße and take your second turn on your right, Torgauer Straße (that junction is located underneath a rail track bridge). Once on Torgauer Straße, the EUREF-Campus will be your first turn on your left.

Arrivals by plane

Use the AirportExpress to get from airport Berlin Schönefeld to S-Bahnhof Friedrichstraße (25 minutes) and follow our directions for public transport to get to the MCC (via S1 to Schöneberg station). If you arrive at airport Berlin Tegel, you have two options. Either take the X9 bus (to Jungfernheide station and then transfer to S42 and get off at the Schöneberg station). Or take the TXL bus (to Beusselstraße station and then transfer to S42 and get off at the Schöneberg station).
